

To President David Alexander and Randy Craker, Chair of the Board of Trustees:

Following a 3 ½ hour executive session, teaching faculty of Northwest Nazarene University voted 77% to 23% to express “no confidence” in the leadership of President David Alexander.

Faculty also voted overwhelmingly to affirm the Framework of Collaborative Governance.

The Framework provides a way forward for the faculty and administration to work together in a positive manner. Collaborating in the development of academic policies and procedures is a vital part of this process. The faculty is committed to working with the administration in achieving the Board’s directives and strengthening the overall position of the university.
